

This Image shows The large limb on the oak tree growing towards the house which ideally would be removed. If this is removed then the upper canopy should be left untouched, if not then both the overhanging limb and the upper canopy would need to be reduced by approx 2.5-3m to suitable growth points. Though there doesn't seem to be many suitable growth points on the limb as it is very 'leggy'. The proposal would be to remove the limb marked by both arrows.
