

(Above) House for Theo and Oskar (Tigg and Coll Architects) Free spanning, timber diagrid roof providing continuous canopy over the internal spaces and external terrace;

*(Left) Les écuries de la Roche, Vourles (69), France (f+g architectes)
The verticality of timber against the backdrop of vegetation with associated timber louvres protecting the interior from direct sunlight*