Description:

VELUX GBL White Painted Low Pitch Roof Windows are ideal for low pitch extensions down to 10 degrees.

The Glass-to-edge technology providing a seamless and aesthetic installation and the aluminium profile provides a drainage system for water to run down.

The GBL is sold as a complete package including the roof window, flashing kit and underfelt collar. The flashing is suitable for and profiled roofing material or profiled tiles from 15mm up to 120mm.

With a combination of innovative design and technology, the new Low Pitch roof window provides a watertight solution to overcome the previous challenges of installing a roof window at a low pitch.

Despite the revolutionary new design, the Low Pitch roof window is as easy to install as all other VELUX roof windows. Everything your installers need is also conveniently included with the roof window, offering them a complete package solution for low pitch roofs.

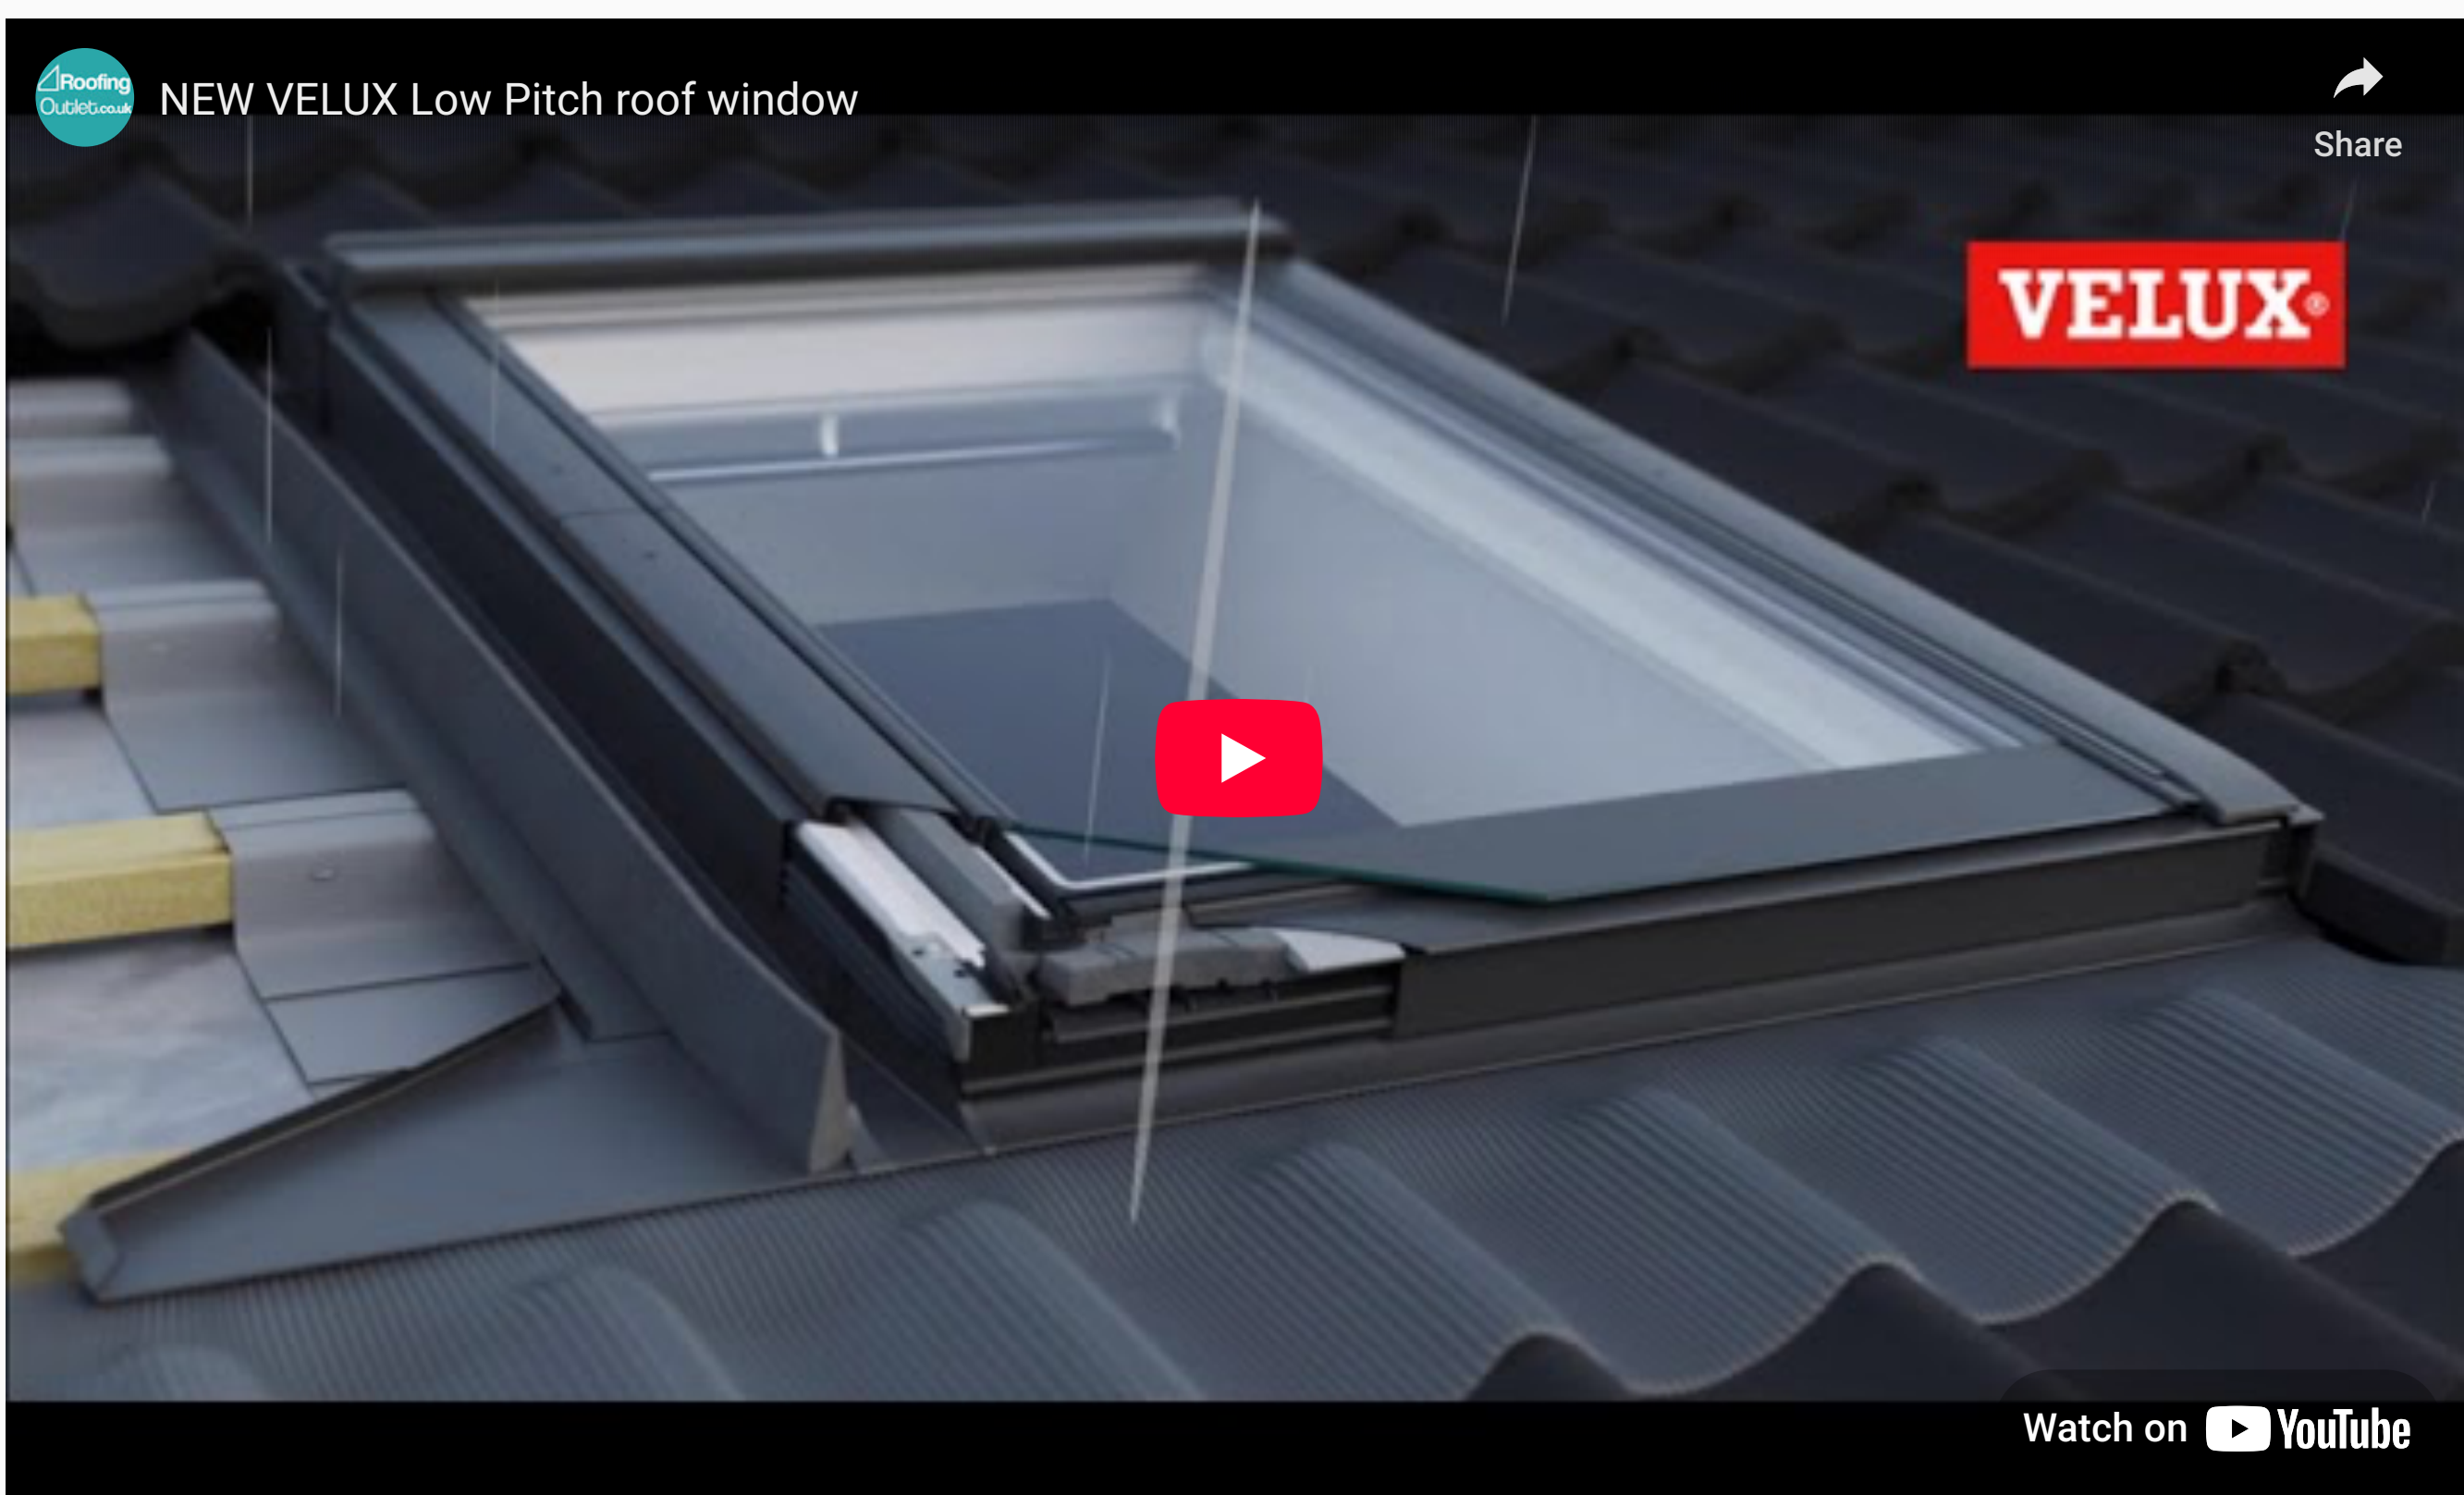

Velux white-painted roof windows are a perfect choice if you are looking for a stylish roof window to bring daylight & fresh air to your home extension.
